

UNIQUE GIFTS . . . PRESS-HERALD Columnist Larry Macary is pictured with the Torrance High School art collection. Macary, a former art instructor at THS, discusses the unique gifts of the Tartar senior classes in his "Let's Go" column today. Begun in 1957, the collection has been added to each year by the graduates—providing THS with one of the most unique collections of gifts in the area.

Reform Jewish Appeal Campaign Slated Here

The new Reform Jewish Appeal on behalf of the Union of American Hebrew

Congregations and the Hebrew Union College will be launched in the Redondo Beach area at an 8 p.m. meeting Nov. 4 at Temple Menorah, 11101 Camino Real.

Guest speaker will be William Warnick, regional chairman of the campaign, who is devoting a year from his building firm to raise funds for the two national institutions of Reform Judaism.

Temple Menorah is one of 662 Reform temples affiliated with the UAHC in the western hemisphere, while the college helps train rabbis, cantors, and educators for the Reform movement at schools in Los Angeles, Cincinnati, New York, and Jerusalem. Joining in the Reform Jewish Appeal event Nov. 4 at the Redondo Beach meeting will be Myer Alpert, president of Temple Menorah, and Rabbi Jerome Unger.

Law in Action

Under the old law a person named in a will had to outlive the will writer to benefit from the will. If he died first, the gift "lapsed" and some other relatives would inherit. California law makers changed this rule. Now if the testator left a gift to "kindred" who died before he did, that gift would go on to the legatee's "lineal descendants."

SUPPOSE your uncle left your father a gift under his will, but your father died first. The gift does not lapse. Unless the will provided otherwise, you and your brothers, say, would get the gift even though your uncle did not mention you in his will. For such a rule to apply, the testator must be a blood relative, not a relative "by affinity" such as an aunt by marriage. The law frowns upon remote heirs from those named. One's wife or husband is not a blood relative, though special laws often do take care of a spouse. Under California law adopted children are deemed to be blood relatives.

THE CALIFORNIA rule also applies to a blood relative who the testator thought, was living, but who had died. Today his direct descendants would inherit through him. A well written will takes care of most of such situations to give full effect to the testator's wishes.

An heir's unexpected death or disability may create new problems. Lawyers write special provisions or trust agreements into wills to meet these problems, spelling out the testator's desires in such cases.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Red Cross First Aid Class Set

What does FDR mean to you? In Red Cross first aid, FDR stands for general treatment of a poison victim's Fill, Drain and Refill. Word association is just one of the methods used in free Red Cross first aid lessons to help persons remember what to do in an emergency.

Anyone holding a Standard First Aid Certificate who is at least 15 years old is eligible to learn the FDR's of Red Cross first aid in the advanced course scheduled to begin tomorrow at the Torrance Evening High School, 2200 W. Carson St.

Capt. Walter West, Torrance Red Cross safety services chairman, says the five class sessions will be taught on consecutive Thursdays from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Enrollment may be made by calling FA 8-8080. "Knowledge of first aid, coupled with good safety habits, is a giant step towards shielding our communities and our industries and our families against needless tragedies," Capt. West says, pointing out that the aid of Red Cross safety services program is teach first aid to at least one member of every family and every industrial worker.

"Where would you recommend to buy toys while we are in Europe?"

I think Germany is best. Very good toy trains. Good battery-operated toys. Best of stuffed animals. Good for child's room cuckoo clocks.

WILLIAM WARNICK Chairman

Youth Behind The Wheel

NATURE'S LAWS—There are traffic laws made by man, and traffic laws made by nature. You might ignore those made by man, but you can't ignore nature's laws. They don't always give you a second chance, advises the Automobile Club of Southern California. One of these is centrifugal force. Every driver encounters it when rounding a curve. Road surface friction counteracts it. If there were no gripping between tires and road, an automobile could not make a turn. In rounding a curve keep in mind that car control depends upon your speed, the sharpness of the curve, the slope of the curve and the condition of the road and your tires.
